French Fliers Reach Syria

NEW DISTANCE RECORD IS SET

Long Jaunt Shatters Previous Mark of 5,340 Miles.

ABANDON INDIA GOAL

Leaky Gasoline Line Prevents Pair from Continuing Further. (BULLETIN)

By The Associated Press

PARIS Aug 7—The Air Orient company received a message this afternoon saying that the French airmen, Maurice Rossi, and Paul Codos, landed at Damascus Syria, 4:00 p. m. (11:00 a. m. Marion time), thus completing their non-stop flight from New York.

The message came from Beirut, important Syrian seaport. Their goal of India was abandoned when a leak developed as they flew over Roumania.

Another record of the air was broken when Codos and Rossi ended their 5,900 mile flight, 54 hours 19 minutes from the time they took off at Floyd Bennett airport, New York.

It was the longest non-stop flight ever made and exceeded the old record by an estimated 560 miles. The old distance of 5,340 miles was flown last February by two British air corps officers.

According to dispatches from Damascus, the Frenchmen still had gasoline in the tanks of their plane but decided to come down in view of the fact they had broken the record.

Their flight was perfection in navigation and control.

Rossi estimated this morning that by noon he and his companion would have set a new mark.

Despite a gasoline leak, they had announced earlier by wireless as they sped over Rumania, that they would try to reach Aleppo, Syria, or even Baghdad, Iraq, before alighting. Either point would give them a new distance record.

When they left New York Saturday, they had hoped to reach Karachi, India, more than 7,000 miles away, but apparently the loss of gasoline made this impossible.

They are holders of many other aviation records. (International News photo).

FLIGHT IS 25TH ACROSS ATLANTIC

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 — The flight of Maurice Rossi and Paul Codos was the twenty-fifth non-stop crossing of the north Atlantic ocean, not including the ill-fated flight of the Lithuanian aviators.

They made the 3,600-mile hop to Paris in 33 hours 39 minutes.

Other notable flights and comparative times:

Alcock and Brown, St. John's N. F., to Galway, Ireland, June 1919, 1,960 miles, 16 hours 12 minutes.

Lindbergh, New York to Paris, May 1927, 3,610 miles, 33 hours 20 minutes.

Byrd, Noville, Acosta and Balchen, New York to Ver-Sur-Mer, France, June 1927, 3,477 miles 36 hours 6 minutes.

Post and Gatty, Harbor Grace to Krefeld, Germany, June 1931, 3,500 miles, 32 hours 6 minutes.

Boardman and Polando, New York to Istanbul, Turkey, July 1931, 5,011 miles, 49 hours.

Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, Harbor Grace to Ireland, May 1932, 2,206 miles, 13 hours 30 minutes.

Mattern, New York to Norway, June 1930, 3,600 miles, 23 hours 55 minutes.

Post, New York to Berlin, July 1933, 3,900 miles, 25 hours 45 minutes.

FOOD DEALERS PLAN MEETING

Will Seek Agreement on Operating Hours at Session Tuesday Night.

SUBJECT BEFORE COUNCIL

Mayor Announces Plans To Consider Status of NRA in City Affairs.

Marion today continued to keep in step with the rest of the country in support of the NRA program, with food dealers planning a meeting Tuesday night to attempt a settlement of a controversy over opening and closing hours and a meeting of city council to discuss the city's participation.

In this district, Kenton and Upper Sandusky furnished news today of NRA progress. Twenty-five men scheduled to be laid off of a surveyor's force at Kenton, will be kept on, it was reported. The men will work on a 40-hour week schedule. Grocers in Upper Sandusky formed an organization in line with the NRA policy and decided to close their stores on Wednesday afternoons until Oct. 1.

Agreement Expected

Marion food dealers will meet in the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday at 8 p. m. to discuss opening and closing hours, over which there has existed conflicting opinions since a meeting last Wednesday night. Since many of the dealers seem eager to settle the questions, it was thought likely that a decision will be reached at this meeting.

While some of the dealers favor closing at 7 p. m. on Saturday, others reported that they wished to remain open until 9 p. m. on that day. The matter was left to

WESTERVILLE OPENS ATTACK ON BEER

By The Associated Press

WESTERVILLE, O., Aug. 7—Jealous of their fame as the nation's prohibition capital, Westerville citizens at a protest meeting pledged two-thirds of the signatures needed to obtain a vote on a proposal to keep the town dry.

The vote would be Nov. 7, and Charles V. Taylor, a restaurant and pool room operator, is the target. He got a permit to sell 3.2 per cent beer in this, the national headquarters of the Anti-Saloon league.

Four hundred have signed petitions for the vote. Two hundred more signers are needed.

75 Ohio State Students To Be Housed in Stadium

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Aug. 7—Seventy-five picked men students at Ohio State university can look forward to occupying unique living quarters at the school in September. They'll be housed in one end of the horseshoe that is the university's football stadium.

For the first time in nearly 30 years, the university will provide a men's dormitory, in the four floors of the southwest section of the stadium.

Fifty freshmen and 25 upperclassmen will be admitted to the quarters—

If they are in financial need;
If their scholarship is high;
If their character meets a set standard.

The step was taken to help prospective students who could not otherwise attend school. A room charge of $1 a quarter of 12 weeks and a meal charge of $2.50 a week will be levied. Furthermore, the farm boy who can offer staple products to the dormitory commissary will be able further to cut his boarding charges. The university officials announced they will credit such contributions at prevailing prices.

Three floors of the stadium tower will provide the sleeping quarters, 25 men to each floor. The fourth will serve as a dining and study hall. The university will provide beds, lockers and tables. The students will furnish bed clothing.

Vast Progress Seen in Ohio Conservation Work

Citizens' Corps Expected To Move Program in State Ahead 15 to 20 Years.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7—In almost a single stride, Ohio will have stepped from 15 to 20 years ahead of its conservation program through the medium of the citizens' conservation corps, Edmund Secrest, state forester and director of the C. C. C. administration for the state, promises.

Much depends on the duration of the camps, Secrest said, but if President Roosevelt extends the schedule through the 24 months in which the work could be completed, Secrest declared he foresaw a valuable advance in the cause of conservation.

There are 18 camps in Ohio today, enrolling 3,600 youths who are receiving the $30 monthly stipend, $25 of which goes back to their dependents. Seven are forest camps, ten are soil erosion camps and one is a park camp.

Much has been said of the opportunity for the youth himself, taken from idleness and the corner gang and regimented into a productive work group, housed and fed by the government his physical well-being made a major federal concern.

Practical Results Listed

But the return to the taxpayer who will foot the bill provides an interesting sidelight.

The completion of the program will see an addition of 138 miles of metaled roads to the state's highways, in the seven forest camps.

Boundary surveys and topographic maps will be prepared.

Improvement cutting on 60,000 acres of state forest land, with worthless trees removed will increase the value of young timber.

Fire prevention systems will be installed in all state forests to halt destruction that sweeps more than 10,000 acres yearly.

Six high steel towers will be erected for fire-watchers.

One million seedling trees will be planted on forest lands.

Soil-saving dams, built from

Thieves Get New Teeth in "Visit" to Dental Office

A burglar or burglars who entered the office of Dr. A. J. Wagner, dentist, at 156½ South Main street, over the week-end must have intended to lay up a winter's supply of dental necessities, Dr. Wagner told police this morning.

For in addition to taking $50 in cash and about $50 in dentists' gold, Dr. Wagner said the invaders also took 20 false teeth.

The drawer containing the teeth had been overturned and emptied of its contents, including a bottle of gold leaf, gold scrap, casting gold, and other gold used in dental work, Dr. Wagner said.

The door of the office had been jimmied and the lock broken off.

LINDY IN HAZARDOUS GREENLAND FLIGHTS

Colonel and Wife Complete Daring Dash Despite Adverse Conditions.

By The Associated Press

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 7 — Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was reported today to have made a daring flight on Sunday through fog and rain from Scoresby sound, East Greenland to Angmagsalik, another settlement on the eastern Greenland coast.

He started in the morning and arrived in the afternoon. It was said he was handicapped by adverse weather conditions, but all went well.

On Saturday Colonel Lindbergh made the first west to east crossing of Greenland. His next goal on the aerial mapping tour he is making, with Mrs. Lindbergh, will be Akureyri, Iceland.

Mrs. Lindbergh accompanied her husband on the flight yesterday.

NATIONWIDE CAMPAIGN TO "BUY NOW" ON

Purchase From Blue Eagle Dealers, Johnson Urges, in Launching Drive.

DON'T DELAY SPENDING

NRA Head Asks, Pointing Out How Buying Will Speed Recovery.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 7. The plea to buy because buying supports your job started today the recovery administration's attempt to utilize the increased purchasing power it feels is being created by hour shortening, wage raising agreements of the government with business and industry.

Along with that request from Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, went this boycott threat:

"Where should you spend? Can there be any question? You should spend under the blue eagle. If you spend elsewhere you are hurting the chance to end unemployment because you are helping to destroy the business of the men who are paying more for help, you are aiding those who refuse to do so."

Not Hastily Launched

The "buy now" campaign had been in contemplation for some time. But for a while the recovery administration feared production was increasing too fast for purchasing power—that more goods were being manufactured than could be bought.

Temporary agreements with the President to raise pay and shorten hours, pending development of permanent codes of fair competition with the same objective, were offered business and industry yesterday. Johnson looked over the score sheet. He found five industries—cotton textiles, coats and suits, shipbuilding, electrical manufacturing and woolen textiles.

Truce Snubbed by Striking Miners

By The Associated Press

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 7.—Snubbing a truce effected by President Roosevelt, thousands of miners in the vast coal fields of southwestern Pennsylvania refused to go back to work today.

Here and there a mine reopened but for the most part the diggings were shut down.

The H. C. Frick Coke company, which operates dozens of mines in Fayette county, heart of the area which has been strike bound for two weeks, postponed opening of 10 mines until tomorrow at the request of Governor Pinchot.

Wants More Time

The strikers who say they want more time in which to study terms of the agreement had their picket army in the field but most picket lines dwindled after no resumption was attempted.

The last mine operating in Fayette county—the Davidson mine of the Purity Connellsville Coal & Coke company, employing 150 men—closed this morning.

The miners say they will have several thousand on picket lines if the Frick company tries to reopen its workings tomorrow. A battalion of national guardsmen, sent into the area a week ago by Governor Pinchot and state police are preparing for any eventuality.

Pickets Block Move

A back-to-the-mines movement got under way in Allegheny county, but pickets gathered at several large mines and forestalled resumption.

Union officials admittedly are distressed by the anomalous situation—union miners striking for recognition of their union, refusing to heed the advice of their leaders to go back to work.

P. T. Fagan, president of district number five, today blamed the disobedience and defiant attitude on Communistic elements which he said are at work among the men.

Fagan said the men are "exercising bad judgment" in not returning to work pending adoption of a code of fair competition for the industry.

KentuckyVoting Quarrels Cost Fourteen Lives

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 7—Fourteen slayings, most of them attributed to quarrels over Saturday's statewide primary election, occurred over the week-end in Kentucky mountain counties. In addition 10 were wounded.

The total was believed to be a record for the state. Most of the shootings were in isolated communities, attributed by officers either to intense feeling over county races, to renewal of old grudges on meetings at the polls, and in it at least one instance to a quarrel over a liquor deal.

The total was increased to 14 by the deaths today of Brown Strong, 54, in Breathitt county, and Frank Brock, 23, in Bell county.

National guardsmen were on duty in Harlan county during the primary Saturday and one detachment remained there today as tabulation was started. Two of the 14 slayings occurred in Harlan shortly before the primary.

STEEL PRODUCTION DROPS ONE POINT

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 7—The national steel production rate slumped a point to 54 per cent last week and the magazine Steel today saw three uncertainties as the cause.

It listed these as a more aggressive attitude of labor, inability of the industry to see clearly the effects of the NRA blanket code, and increasing resistance of large consumers to the proposed elimination of concessions of tonnage in the new price program.

City Ready for Primary Vote Tuesday

Heavy Balloting Expected as Candidates Stage Last-Minute Drive.

With candidates seeking party nominations staging a last minute campaign for votes, the board of elections this afternoon made final arrangements for the opening of Marion's 42 balloting places Tuesday morning at 6:30.

Presiding judges of the election precincts met this afternoon in the board of elections office to receive supplies and final instructions.

Three voting places have been changed since last year. First ward C will vote at Geissler's barber shop at 742 East Center street instead of 738 East Center street. Second ward D will vote at 309 North Main street instead of Bell's radio shop at 327 North Main street and Second ward C will vote in the offices of the Golden Rule Coal Co. at 513 Silver street instead of the Miller store at 547 Silver street.

Pre-primary dopesters are having considerable difficulty in picking the winners in the Democratic mayoralty race. They say voters are being unusually quiet on their choices and see a close finish in the four-cornered fight.

The heavy interest on this ticket is expected to result in heavy primary balloting among the Democrats. One source forecast at least

KROGER PLANS MASTER STORE

South Main Street Building Leased for New Project.

WILL BE REMODELED

25 Men To Be Employed in Contract Work; Due To Start in Week.

A "master store" of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co. will be installed at 135-137 South Main street within the next month or six weeks, Attorney J. Malcolm Strelitz, representing the building owners, announced this morning. The property is owned by the Strelitz family.

Work of remodeling the interior and front of the building will be started in a week. The building is to be ready for occupancy by Sept. 15, Mr. Strelitz said.

The remodeling work, for which contracts are to be let this week, Mr. Strelitz said, will result in virtually a new building. Employment will be provided, he said, for nearly 25 men.

Frontage of 36 Feet

With a frontage on South Main street of 36 feet and a depth of 120 feet, the store will represent the latest type being installed by the Kroger company. A similar one was just completed in Mansfield while another is operated in Delaware. The Marion store, the first of its type here, will follow a color style either of black and green or black and aluminum.

No estimate of the construction cost was available, Mr. Strelitz said, since the contracts have not been let.

A complete meat department will be included in the store, in addition to grocery and baking supplies.

Leased for Five Years

A five year lease was made, Mr. Strelitz said, and the Kroger company was given an option for another five years.

Present tenants of the building, Spano's fruit market, the Crescent Printing Co. and Thomas Tyner's tailor shop, are making arrangements for other locations, Mr. Strelitz said. Most of them probably will move into other rooms on South Main street.

Parachute Jumper Hurt at Galion

Paul Sens, who was injured in a parachute jump yesterday, was one of two jumpers who were adding thrills to the air show that opened the new Galion airport.

His right leg was broken in two places when he landed on the ground after a successful attempt to guide his 'chute away from a clump of trees.

Sens, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sens of 262 Ballentine avenue, was one of the youngest jumpers in the country when he started making jumps about three years ago. Without technical knowledge either of jumping or packing a parachute, he started his career at the age of 18.

On a previous occasion at Bucyrus he escaped injury when he cut away from his 'chute as it headed toward trees. He landed in a tree-top.

False Report Results in Execution of Kentuckian

By The Associated Press

VANCEBURG, Ky., Aug. 7 — Zolar Thurman, 35, was dead today, the victim of a fellow townsman's mistake.

He was shot down before a crowd of election voters at the small town of Petersville, Saturday night. Today his slayers were being hunted in the hills.

Thurman and Eli Stidham, 25, argued over the election. Thurman struck Stidham with a stone, and the man fell unconscious.

Then Sheriff Carl Sullivan said witnesses told him, a bystander rushed to where Stidham's brothers, John, 28, and Harrison, 30, stood.

"Zolar Thurman has killed Eli," the sheriff said the bystander blurted out.

Sullivan said the two turned with hardly a word, hurried home, got their shotguns and returned muttering, "he killed our brother and we'll kill him."

Thurman was standing in the midst of an election crowd when the two, the sheriff reported, shouldered their way through, ordered the rest to stand aside, and then, with Thurman helpless before them, calmly raised their guns and fired. Thurman fell dead. The brothers, the sheriff said, fled to the hills.

Meanwhile the "dead" brother, Eli, had regained consciousness in a Vanceburg hospital. His wounds were not even serious. He was placed in jail and charged with aiding and abetting a murder.

ABOUT ANYTHING

IN AND AROUND MARION

NRA Is Popular

Enthusiasm for the NRA is certainly is not lacking in Marion At least not if judged on the amount of conversation

And everyone seems to want it to get a break. "It might not work," some say, "but it's worth a try"

Many people seem impressed because the government has taken the plight of the common people seriously and set about to do something directly for them

Some cynics are glad it came up because it has switched conversation from the weather and hard times.

• • •

Sane Cure

She goes bicycling every morning to reduce and then eats an extra lunch in the afternoon a cure an excellent for those with ideas of losing a pound or two

The young woman works afternoons in a department store and the other day when a friend stopped at her counter she sent her out for two ham sandwiches with relish, a bag of potato chips and a nickels worth of candy. And did her eyes glisten when she saw the food coming?

• • •

Water Cure

What a swell razzing the four grads of Harding High in 27 would come in for if their more conventional friends had seen them wading the Whetstone river the other night. But it was the only thing to do—the grassy bank that was ideal for a steak roast was on the other side

• • •

Real Thrill

There's a thrill, akin to that of blaring bands and khaki lads bravely marching away in these red, white and blue NRA posters and stickers, that mean an entire nation is bravely fighting its way "over the top" to a new era

Duke's Home Again.

Mary Ellen Kerr secretary to the city board of health and members of her family have learned how like a tragedy it can seem when a pet dog is missing

The Kerr's dog, "Duke" a bull terrier they have had for nine years, took a ride the other night with Weddell Kerr The pup was left in the East End Weddell thinking he knew the way home

Traveling Light

He was what you'd call "going to town" The last that was seen of him he was exiting from a West Center street restaurant, happy as a lark over what he said was many mugs of 3 2, and he was "going to Cleveland"

His luggage consisted of a pair of houseslippers and a necktie carried in one hand, and in the crook of the other arm, an alarm clock.

Berry Patch Thrill

Picking blackerries is not without its thrills these days if you ask Francis Bosh of Owens and Arthur Furniss of Prospect. The two men killed a five-foot blue racer while picking berries near Chesterville in Morrow county, they report. Mr Bosh states this is the first snake of this kind he has seen in 20 years

Aside from killing blue racers Mr Bosh also excels as a gardner and barring frosts and accidents the Bosh family will dine well on pumpkin pies this season. Mr. Bosh welcomes all comers in competition with his champion pumpkin vine which to date has 11 pumpkins growing from one stalk.

No Strikes

(Will Rogers Special)

SANTA MONICA, Cal., Aug. 7—Every week or so another fine plan comes from the administration. This last one of "no strikes during these times and it's to be settled fairly by the government," that's one of the best yet.

Unions are fine things, for they are in every line of business. Bankers have their associations for mutual benefit, governors have theirs, all big industries are banded together in some way, but a strike should be the very last means, for it is like war, it always falls on those who had nothing to do with calling it.

So viva this last move.

Yours,

Will Rogers

MAY ESCAPE TAX PENALTY

Payment of Delinquent Amounts by August 20 Will Avoid Extra Cost.

Marion county taxpayers who failed to pay their December, 1932 real estate taxes, have until Aug 20 to do so without paying the customary 10 per cent penalty County Treasurer R. G. Smallwood said today, following receipt of an attorney general's opinion Saturday.

The last legislature passed a bill waiving penalties on December, 1932, real estate taxes until July 20, the date on which the current June collection usually ends, but the attorney general has held that the law shall be operative until the close of the current tax collection, which has been extended in this county to Aug 20 by the state tax commission, the treasurer said.

Records show that $133,907.46 of real estate taxes due in the last December collection became delinquent when the last collection period ended. Of this amount, officials estimated, approximately $100,000 remains unpaid.

Unless the persons from whom this is due pay the amount of the delinquency by Aug. 20, 10 per cent will be added to the amount due from them, Treasurer Smallwood explained.

—wouldn't you like to be able to say this too? Then pause a moment and reason ... skin affections usually result because of lowered resistance from below the skin surface. Then help the blood that purifies the skin, by increasing its red cells and restoring the vital oxygen-carrying hemoglobin in these cells so that more vitality comes to the tissues. This will increase the ability of the blood to devour infectious pimple germs.

That is just what S.S.S. does—proved by tens of thousands of unsolicited letters of thankfulness.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES TO WIN THE BRITISH OPEN!

●ABOVE—IN RATING THE POPULAR CIGARETTES, Shute says, "Camels are milder, and what is even more important to any golfer, they do not jangle the nerves."

●ABOVE—TWO CONTINENTS CHEERED when slender Densmore Shute, brilliant young American golfer, with wrists of steel and nerves that never wavered, won the British Open—the youth American champion in ten years!

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

When it comes to healthy nerves, "DENNY" SHUTE speaks with authority. "I couldn't have won the British Open if my nerves hadn't been in perfect condition," says Shute. "Healthy nerves are essential to any golfer who wants to turn in a good score. The enjoyment of cigarettes has not interfered with my golf game because I have smoked Camels right along. I have tried all the brands and long ago found that Camels are milder, and what is even more important to any golfer, they do not jangle the nerves."

* * *

"Denny" Shute offers conclusive evidence that Camels are milder. That they don't interfere with healthy nerves. That smokers like Camels better, the more they smoke them. Consider the fact that Camels are made from costlier tobaccos—and switch to them yourself. You will also discover that Camels are better for steady smoking.

●RIGHT—"I'M NOT A CHAMPION GOLFER—not even a fair one, according to Mr. Shute's standards! I'm a young married woman, interested in home and children. But I'm inclined to be the nervous type. So I switched to Camels, for the sake of my nerves, and because Camels are definitely a milder cigarette."

How are Your Nerves?

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand. Leaf tobaccos for cigarettes can be bought from 5¢ a pound to $1.00...but Camel pays the millions more that insure your enjoyment.

CONTEST PROBABLE OVER 'HEALER'S' WILL

Only Child of Ottawa, Ohio Man Seeks To Change Bequests.

By International News Service

OTTAWA, O., Aug. 7—A court contest over the will disposing of the $50 000 estate left by Isaac Fullerton, "faith healer," is in prospect in common pleas court here

Under terms of his will, Fullerton left all except $500 of his property to his eight grandchildren He made the stipulation that the money should not go to the great grandchildren, who range in age from one year to 11, until they are 21 years old.

Mrs. Edward Wilkerson of Monroe, Mich., Fullerton's only child is contesting the will, which provides $100 each for her and for Fullerton's four grandchildren Mrs Wilkerson attacks the document on the grounds that it does not use her correct name of Loretta, but calls her Catherine and claims her father was unable to designate the names of the grandchildren and the great-grandchildren.

Fullerton, who died here last winter, was a picturesque character. He diagnosed the cases of his patients, who came to him from all parts of the country, by inspecting the left foot of each

George W Parker who was associated with Fullerton in his work, was named in the will and appointed by the court as executor of the estate.

Homemaker's Question Box

Question—Although there are several windows in my room it appears dark. What can I do to my windows to make the room lighter?

Answer—Possibly the windows are covered with curtains made from heavy material which excludes light. Heavy or closely woven materials exclude more light than fine, loosely woven ones. The color of curtains also affects the amount and quality of light which enters the room White or cream, ivory and such light colors having a bit of yellow in them reflect light and make the room appear lighter. Too often curtains are hung to completely exclude light when heavy materials are used. Curtains may be hung over the framework of the window and a very small portion of the window pane. This leaves the greater portion of the window exposed through which light may filter

Possibly nothing influences a room more than the shades. Light shades, ivory, sand or linen color lighten a room more than dark green or blue ones which are so often used The inner side of dark shades may be painted light to brighten a dark room.

...Kenniston was still a
...man. He was a plunger.

Six or seven years ago he had inherited a fortune from his father. In short order he was on the verge of ruin.

Then three or four years ago he had blossomed out into full flower again, with apparently more money at his command than ever.

Colin laughed shortly to himself. Suppose it should turn out that Lamarre was a frequenter of Kenniston's "club"?

The Bonaventure's whistle boomed out raucously. Colin went down to his cabin to look after his gear.

* * *

CAP A L'ORAGE had not belied its name. For three days following the afternoon of Colin's arrival the weather had been unsettled and stormy, keeping him indoors except when, taking advantage of a few short-lived bursts of sunshine, Germaine Tremblay and he had gone for walks together. He had spent a great deal of time at Dr. Tremblay's house, otherwise the days would have been ones of unutterable ennui. As it was ....

He struck a match, cupped his hands against the wind, and lighted a cigaret—his eyes on the girl in the stern of the motorboat beside him, who at the moment was bending over the engine with an oil can in her hand. He wished he could write her into a book and really picture her as she was; but his pen always stumbled over a girl—and so did his tongue.

He always addressed her sedately as Miss Tremblay, but he always thought of her as Germaine. He wondered if she, who always called him Mr. Howard, would like the name.

His eyes roved over the little craft—an open launch save for its decked prow, under which one could store perishables in wet weather, or even manage to crawl in uncomfortably oneself if one were concerned only with a dry skin and not with the handling of the boat.

* * *

SHE was still absorbed in the engine. His thoughts harked back over the last three days. Dr. Tremblay was quite on his feet again—so much so that he and his sister were planning a little recuperative trip over to Gaspe and then by motor around the peninsula, when the Belle Fleur, that made some of the south shore ports came in tomorrow.

Colin likes Dr. Tremblay. Mentally he pictured the other now: a man of perhaps 65, with iron-gray hair, slim, unintentionally particular about his dress and appearance—and always at an air of courtliness about him that made one think of the manners of old France.

And Madame de Courval, the doctor's widowed sister—much like the doctor in her cordial and gracious manners and much like Germaine in her high spirits. An unforgettable household — that included Antoinette, who had once been Germaine's nurse and was now the cook and Antoinette's husband, Jacques, who was the man of all work about the house and who had been trained to serve at table.

A quaint, picturesque place, Cap a l'Orage—but still strange to him. No roads led out of Cap a l'Orage either to the east or the west or the north—and its southernmost point was its own wharf. The village began and ended with its own three or four streets, except, of course, for a trail here and there that led into the woods for a short distance.

A little village that was all a world unto itself—except on the none too frequent steamer days. It was that way all along the coast. And the people! There was a charm about their frugal and simple lives, their unaffected friendliness that was irresistible. There was Madame Frenier, for instance. True, the accommodations left something to be desired, but as for Madame Frenier herself, nothing was too much trouble for her.

His thoughts veered suddenly again, and a whimsical smile twisted his lips.

Given in Marriage

BY ADELE GARRISON

Avis promises to behave herself on pain of being locked in her room. The ceremony begins and Mary and Neal meet at the altar.

FORTUNATELY AVIS herself had put into my hand the weapon I had just used to compel her obedience. When I had first spoken of locking the door upon her hours before she had evinced such terror that I knew she was a victim of claustrophobia, so I was not surprised when she started toward me with outstretched hands, crying:

"Don't—don't do that! I'll come down. You've beaten me, but don't lock me up!"

"See that you behave yourself, then," Lillian said grimly, as she took the girl gently but firmly by the arm and whirled her toward the door. "Just remember that I'm going to have my eyes on you every second, and if you try to pull anything, I'll whisk you up here and lock the door on you before you have time to breathe. But if you behave yourself, nobody will guess anything save that you are the most striking looking girl at the wedding.

Humoring Avis

"And that's no lie," she said in burlesqued intonation, as she gave Avis what she calls "the once-and-twice over." "Just live up to your looks, my good girl, and you'll enjoy yourself hugely, I'll predict."

I saw Avis stiffen at the words "my good girl," which I knew Lillian had used purposely. But at the compliment she visibly preened herself, and by the time she, Lillian, Katherine and I had reached the lower floor, she was, if not in good humor, at least not in a bad one.

"Better tell your mother and Mr. Veritzen now why you are not going to be a bridesmaid," Lillian counselled, "then they will not be looking for you in the procession."

"All right," Avis said, and as I went to the front of the room to speak to the pianist, I heard her voluble but low-toned explanation of the impossibility of wearing the bridesmaid's gown picked out for her.

"My foolish, fastidious darling," Mrs. Arlen fatuously murmured, and Philip Veritzen added a compliment upon the becomingness of the green and silver gown. Both of the older people were too schooled in the social nuances to have treated her announcement in any other than a casual manner, and as I gave the signal to the pianist I felt that one more danger to the success of the wedding arrangements had been passed.

The Ceremony Begins

Our small orchestra had been playing softly while Bob, with William and Henry assisting him, had been seating the guests in the chairs on either side of the aisle flanked with roses. Just before my signal to the pianist, the boys walked down to the front of the door, drawing broad white ribbons along either side of the aisle fastening them to the front standard of flower, then stepping to one side of the improvised altar.

The music of the orchestra stopped and the first familiar strains of the Lohengrin wedding march came from the piano. The Reverend Mr. Summers, who I reflected whimsically, did not know how nearly he had been dragged out of bed to perform this ceremony nearly 20 hours before, took his place in front of the altar, and from a side door Noel and Ronald came to join him.

A Harassed Bridegroom

Noel was pale, and his face was set in lines of anxiety. He looked like anything but a jubilant bridegroom, and I had a sudden feeling of irritation against him in spite of my knowledge of the secret fear which had set his face in those lines. But I felt that I could not bear the interpretation which Avis Arlen would put upon that strained look. Her vanity would interpret it as reluctance to go through the ceremony with Mary, in spite of the humiliating truths Noel had spoken to her the night before.

Ronald was as flushed as Noel was pale, and he was almost as harassed looking. I knew that he was saying to himself "ring, ring, ring," and that he had a very lively fear of forgetting the point in the ceremony at which he was to produce it.

But both faces lost their anxiety as down the stairs, with slow, beautiful movement, came the small wedding procession. Ronald's eyes rested for a second with brotherly approval upon his winsome sister, Carolyn, leading the procession, and then his face broke into beaming pleasure at the sight of Marian behind her in her rose-colored gown.

Noel's eyes saw neither the maid of honor nor the bridesmaid, lovely as they were. His eyes went swiftly past them, unseeing, and fastened themselves upon Mary—surely, I told myself fatuously, the most beautiful bride that ever approached an altar.

With starry eyes searching through her veil for Noel's eyes, Mary was an exquisite vision, and as she came closer and her eyes found Noel's I did not wonder at the radiance that came into the boy's face, or at the smile with which he welcomed her.

"Dearly beloved"—The sonorous voice of the clergyman began intoning the impressive old service, and with eyes and ears divided between the bridal picture and Avis Arlen, who sat directly across from me, I followed the words of the service feverishly. At the words, "If any one can show just cause," I found my eyes going fearfully to Avis Arlen's face, and, in the old wives' phraseology, "the sight almost left them" as I saw her start upward from her chair.

Tuesday, Aug. 8

A VERY LOVELY and interesting day is presaged from the astral forces dominating business and new enterprises especially in those pertinent to writing, writings, literary pursuits, advertising, promotion as well as all connected to intellectual work. There may call for travel, change of location, outlay of funds, but it is the latter be careful to avoid extravagant or reckless outlay, not actual excess of private inheritance.

Those whose birthday it is may have a turn not to your in business, writings, publishing or constructive activities in which there may be demand for unusual or possible outlay or expense. But be careful in these as well as in personal extravagance or indulgences of pleasure or home purchases. A child born on this day will be but fond of pleasure, travel and self-indulgence it will be sociable and popularly likeable.

An Assignment for Mr. Hull.

Not as the conquering hero does Secretary of State Hull return to the United States from his sojourn in London as head of this government's delegation to the world economic conference. There is no stock phrase which completely describes how it is that the secretary returns.

Whatever his role as a prominent official in the government may be, he occupies an extremely interesting position as a citizen on this occasion. Mr. Hull, holding widely advertised convictions of the necessity for international cooperation to emerge from the depression, left the United States when a large portion of the country still had the same idea. He comes back to a scene altered so radically that he is going to have to bestir himself to catch up on his homework.

It is not international cooperation of which people are talking now but domestic recovery in terms of the ubiquitous NRA. Mr. Hull's knowledge of the transformation has been gained from a point where he was able to view developments in perspective—the perspective of the foreign press, amplified, no doubt, by daily contact with papers from the United States. It would make excellent reading if the secretary were to follow the lead of other administration figures and syndicate his impressions of what has transpired.

The people would like to know how NRA and its infinite ramifications appear to this moderate gentlemen reared in the old school of Democratic politics. They would be interested in hearing his impressions of the situation as he plunges into it after his fruitless activities in London. If it were possible for him to make such an expression, they would like to know what difficulties the most moderate member of the President's cabinet is experiencing in keeping up with the current parade of progress.

When Mr. Hull left for Europe early in the summer, talk of an independent domestic recovery was just beginning to be heard. The country still was wondering what directions recovery efforts would take. Lacking positive assurance one way or another, a great number of them tried to believe it would be in the direction of international cooperation, meaning adjustments of tariffs and formation of more lenient trade agreements. All that is gone now. The economic conference failed and with it failed confidence in Secretary Hull's theory of salvation.

A Difficulty With Reformers

Major General John F. O'Ryan is not to be the fusion candidate of the reform party in New York City after all. He has withdrawn in the interests of harmony. Fiorello H. LaGuardia, familiar to newspaper readers as a fiery member of the house of representatives, will try to do what the general would have done had he been blessed with a more united following.

Actually, Mr. La Guardia will not be a reform candidate That is an atavistic kind of nomenclature that dates back to the days of Rev. Parkhurst. He will be, instead, a fusion candidate, representing Republicans and Independent Democrats. But names do not change the idea; if elected, he will have struck a telling blow at Tammany hall, which is the objective of all extraordinary moves in the curious politics of the nation's greatest city.

It has been mentioned before and may be mentioned again that Mr. LaGuardia would make a good entry in any political race He has distinguished himself in the national house of representatives by standing on his legs at all times and speaking his mind In an election where even good Republicans struggled against great odds, this progressive and frequently nominal Republican was beaten by a slim majority. Not the least of his qualifications as the man to beat Mayor O'Brien is the fact that he needs the job.

Reformers have great difficulty getting together on anything, and whether the fusionists in New York City admit it or not they are reformers. Already they have weakened their cause by selecting a man and then rejecting him. Now they have selected another, but not unanimously. It would not be surprising to hear of them indulging in the prize jackasser of politics and splitting their strength with another candidate before they are through with it.

Appreciation.

One paragraph in Commander Johnson's "battle orders" to the American Legion mobilizing it for cooperation in the recovery drive expresses the experiment's spirit as succinctly as it has been expressed by any prominent figure in national life. The paragraph reads:

> Victory will be swift and certain if every loyal American citizen does his part. No policies whatever are involved. This is no time for slackers or conscientious objectors. This is a fight to bring contentment and plenty back to millions of American homes that otherwise face another winter of hunger and misery. It is a fight to give an honest job with an honest living wage to every breadwinner who wants work.

To an extraordinary extent, this brief expression reveals the real purpose of President Roosevelt's program, a purpose which has been permitted to become obscure on occasions within the last several weeks. The recovery drive is not aimed primarily at salvation of business, although that is expected to be an important result. It is aimed at a new deal for the common man.

This aspect can be traced back to Mr. Roosevelt's "new deal" campaign. Historians know that it has been necessary periodically for the people, in their attempt to maintain their national ideal of democracy, to swing to the candidate who promised salvation for the common man. It was that popular desire which caused the election of Thomas Jefferson to the Presidency. It was the same desire which elevated Andrew Jackson, typical friend of the people, to the Presidency. It was the common man's sorry plight which entitled spectacular support for Franklin D Roosevelt.

Commander Johnson, in voicing his appeal to the American Legion to support the President, wisely has emphasized the real objective of the national program. The method of attaining that objective necessarily is determined largely by employers. They must not be permitted to forget, however, that employes are the first beneficiaries. Commander Johnson has earned appreciation by his timely reminder

Hours To Spend.

A hundred years ago, eastern mill owners opposed to shorter hours for labor, argued earnestly that the "wholesome discipline" of factory methods should be maintained during as great a part of the day as possible. In most cases that meant from 12 to 16 hours.

Men still work that long, not under the excuse that it is "wholesome discipline" to give up the greater part of their life to a capitalist, but to earn money which they need. Labor has made considerable progress in a century, even when the worst of present conditions are compared with the best conditions of the period when the factory system was young in the United States.

When the best of present conditions are used in the comparison it is hard to realize that so much could have happened in so short a time. All over the United States today millions of employes, from laborers to white-collar workers, are considering with something close to amazement the shortening of their hours of employment without reductions in pay and, in many cases, actual increases.

They are confronted with a problem that workers never have seen before in history- the problem of what to do with leisure time in an industrial age. Many of them have been given an extra day of rest in each week. Some have a half day, while others have extra hours to spend in the morning and at night.

A newspaper's interviews with a few of these people in one Ohio city reveal the fact that their leisure time probably will be spent in recreational activity, for the most part. To many of them it will offer an opportunity to do their buying in the only way it can be done pleasantly—leisurely. They will take short trips, visit friends and relatives, improve their properties, develop hobbies. Answers from any 12 people probably would represent 12 different sets of intentions.

Significantly, no one is worried over what employes with leisure time will do with it. It is accepted without questioning that they will tend to use it profitably for themselves and for society in general. Many believe, furthermore, that their employers actually will profit from that greater willingness to work which follows variation in the galling monotony of never being able to escape from the job. Not to be overlooked in what is happening, furthermore, is the reemployment of persons who have had nothing but leisure time for the last few years. It is a more logical system to which they are returning than it was when they were released

Two Pigs.

The country's enjoyment over the episode of the two pigs sent by a grandnephew of General Sherman to a young southern officer in payment for two pigs confiscated by the general in his famous march to the sea is not diminished by certain technical considerations adduced by commentators. Columnist Arthur Brisbane estimates, that instead of two pigs, 150,000,000 would be necessary to replace the loss, on the assumption of the well-known prolificacy of pigs.

The young southern officer's opinion has not been published. Apparently, he does not care to make an issue of his ancestors' losses on that painful occasion when the general laid waste a swath of the southland. It may even be that he does not welcome the publicity which the affair has received Nevertheless, a line of consolation is offered for his consideration.

Any practicing farmer could sit down and show him that two pigs for two pigs is a fair return on a debt of so many years' standing The farmer could make rough estimates of how much it would have cost to feed the progeny of the original pair He could demonstrate the impossibility of realizing any return from the progeny after it reached a total of more than a few hundred, without going into hog ranching on a big scale.

If he were a learned farmer he could demonstrate with fluctuations in currency for the last three-quarters of a century how a southern gentleman raising pigs very likely would have lost not only the pigs but his own skin had he attempted to do anything with them but the thing farmers normally do with pigs, which is to butcher them as fast as they grow up and eat them Without trying to estimate the hazards of hog cholera, careless sows trampling their litters, sudden changes in weather, pig thieves in peacetime, and taxation he could show conclusively that a young gentleman whose ancestors lost two pigs under any circumstances is mighty lucky to get anything back at all.

Daily Guide to Health

Family Medicine Chest.

If you have not recently cleaned out the domestic medicine chest do so now. This timely suggestion is urged by the department of health of the state of Maryland.

The medicine chest is likely to contain many bottles and boxes that should have been discarded long ago. They may contain medicines that have spoiled and become a menace to health.

As a rule, the family medicine chest contains an assortment of soiled first-aid dressings and various medications, of doubtful value Many of the bottles are poorly labeled and others are without labels Serious accidents have resulted from the wrong use of such bottles. Often in an emergency a needed medicine cannot be found because of the disorderly arrangement of the chest, or the defective labeling.

When you clean the medicine chest discard every single unlabeled bottle. Never trust to memory. Separate the bottles that contain poisons and keep them away from the harmless drugs. This will prevent the risk of taking a wrong bottle when in a hurry or excited because of an accident. Place all the bottles and boxes in position so that the labels can be clearly seen and easily read before the drug is put to use.

I want to warn every reader about the danger of chocolate and sugar-covered pills. These tablets should be kept well beyond the reach of all children. Cathartic and laxative pills of this type are a common source of danger to children. Usually they are of a bright color, chocolate-covered and attractive to a child. They contain, in many cases, strong drugs and when taken in quantities are dangerous and may prove fatal. Many accidents occur when children mistake such medicine for candy.

Drugs marked "poisonous" should have large and clear labels. They should never be taken except in the exact amount prescribed by the physician. It is a good plan to discard these medicines as soon as possible It is dangerous to place them on the shelf for further use.

Bear in mind that most medicines spoil in time. The curative value is lost with age. In many instances their use may lead to serious intestinal disturbances

Now is the time to clean the cabinet and put it in order Get rid of all the old things that are useless See to it now and do not postpone this needed cleaning of the family medicine chest.

Accidents occur even in the best regulated of households. It is essential to have on hand always a good supply of sterile gauze, cotton, bandages, a bottle of boric acid solution, tincture of iodine and other first-aid medications When an accident occurs, you should be able without hesitation to pick from the medicine cabinet the necessary materials. Confusion and disorder of the medicine chest are hindrances that should be unnecessary.

SLEEPING TO ESCAPE.

Susan has developed a distressing habit of falling asleep in the most unexpected places at any time

She is physically a normal child of about 13, with excellent average health. Her tonsils and adenoids have been removed and she is quite as well-bred and intelligent and in the material sense of the word as well off as her playmates

True, she is not adjusted to any group of her contemporaries, but that is partly because of her nomadic past.

She was the child of an unadjusted marriage which finally broke up when she was about 5. For two or three of her most impressionable years she saw the unhappiness and struggle preceding the divorce, and then for some time was sent from parent to parent until her life must have seemed a kaleidoscope of shifting scenes and backgrounds.

When she finally settled down a couple of years ago she was behind in her schooling, and more at home with adults than with children. Before long she was the odd man out in everything.

Probably her tendency to sleep is an unconscious effort to escape from a reality with which she feels herself unable to cope.

None of us can guess the effect that an insecure and unstable background makes in a child's life. Children are helpless in a world which offers difficulties even to fully equipped adults, and unless they have faith in the people who control their destinies they cannot have the irresponsible freedom and joy to which they are entitled.

Instead of facing every day with hope and courage, they are filled with dread of what the next moment may bring, and as a result are defeated before they even start to live.

Highlights of Ohio History

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

WAR OF 1812

Richland county was a legislative child of the period of the War of 1812 There was a war in progress when the county was organized March 1, 1813. The legislature which authorized it heard officially of the declaration of war upon Great Britain through a message from Governor R. J. Meigs. That legislature was mainly engaged with measures having to do with the war. Two other counties, Monroe and Harrison, were created at that session, and Clinton, Highland and Fayette were rearranged.

The territory of the county was close to the treaty line and many friendly Indians were still living below the line. There was a village of such Indians at the time in what is now Green township with about 60 huts. The whites in the county were afraid they might go on the warpath, and at their instance all the Indians were removed to the western part of the state After the war was over, some of them came back but found that their village had been destroyed and they left, never to return.

So great was the danger of Indian attack felt to be that two block houses were built in Mansfield town and both were garrisoned until after the battle of the Thames.

A Washington Daybook

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, Aug 7—The decision of Senator Sam Bratton of New Mexico to quit the senate and return to the bench came as a great surprise to those who know the red-haired, studious westerner.

SAMUEL BRATTON

Bratton resigned as an associate justice of the supreme court of his state to come to the senate back in 1924 In 1930 he won the right to sit for another term

He never seemed quite able to cast off the judicial atmosphere that appeared to cling to him all the time he was in the senate.

Despite the fact that Bratton had acquired seniority and influence in the senate, he was never quite happy there.

He had eight years to think it over When President Roosevelt offered him a federal judgeship, he accepted eagerly.

* * *

Quite the reverse is true of another senator who left a high place on the bench of his state to come to the senate. He is Bob Wagner of New York.

The story is told that Wagner left his position on the New York supreme bench with some reluctance to run for the senate.

The senate has given him an opportunity for service and constructive effort he has always wanted German-born, he has gone about as high politically as it is possible for him to go. Thus, freed from disturbing influences which eligibility for presidential or vice presidential honors would have given him, he has been able to proceed unhampered with his ideas.

Now he sees the law of the land embodying many ideas on unemployment and relief similar to his own. Today he holds a position of real power in the senate.

* * *

He has shown no indications of a desire to return to the judicial life. Rather, he is happier now than ever before.

However, Senator Bratton is a young man, much younger than Wagner.

It is possible that before President Roosevelt's term is over he may have opportunity to name several members of the supreme court. And there are those who wouldn't be surprised to see Bratton return to Washington some day as a justice of the nation's supreme tribunal.

New York Day by Day

New York, Aug. 7—Diary of a modern Pepys Out through the town and meeting Arthur McKeogh, the editor, who is living on a houseboat this summer Also came upon Gene Buck and Raymond Hubbell and I came on to think Hubbell's "Poor Butterfly" song was the tuniest of that era.

What's to become of 50 of New York's legitimate theaters is a problem that grows increasingly tense There are roundly 90 theaters of this sort It is not believed there is sufficient talent or interest in the legit, when prosperity returns, to keep more than 20 open Talkies have unquestionably won thousands who were orchestra patrons. Mammoth playhouses at Radio City have constituted another serious drain Taxes are devouring dark theaters. So much so three are to be dismantled and ground space used for parking

He noticed on a table a deluxe privately printed volume of his "Noel' by Sarah Bernhardt. He had picked it up when she came in. "A slim little book," murmured Bernhardt. 'A fragment of my youth. It haunted me and I had to put it on paper

"Madam," said Thompson with a bow, "I am sure it is your masterpiece."

The Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND.

MAN'S DANGEROUS MOMENTS.

There are many dangerous moments in a man's life But the average man is so naive that he doesn't recognize them.

If he is a non-marrying man (and all men are "non-marrying' until they find themselves facing the altar) he will shy and run like a startled fawn from some woman who hadn't the slightest designs on him, and dash right into the arms of the woman who has been trying to bag him.

Nothing frightens a man more than a girl's frank admission that marriage, a husband and a home are her goal in life. Yet, he's perfectly safe, with her.

* * *

His dangerous moment is when he meets a girl who sweetly agrees with him that marriage is a stupid old institution and loudly sings "No wedding bells for me!" By that gesture, she chloroforms all his fears and suspicions and can easily slip the noose over his head, and lead him to the bourne, whence there is no return, save via the alimony-route.

A man is in no particular danger when a girl talks wistfully of sweet, old-fashioned domesticity. But, when she begins chanting the praises of "trial marriage" or "companionate marriage," which leaves a man foot-loose at the same time that it offers him all the joys, privileges and comforts of matrimony—that's "holding the apple before the donkey's nose ' And many a man has listened eagerly to this line, has soon found himself walking the baby and shaking down the furnace

When a girl admits that her tastes are luxurious and that only a rich man could satisfy them it makes a man shudder. But the "dangerous moment" is when she begins lauding the charms of the "fifty" marriage, and the beauty of making two pay-envelopes grow where there was only one.

* * *

As long as a girl is romantic and clinging and hangs around a man's neck, he is fairly safe. But when she insists on being "just good friends" and starts doing the "good pal" stuff, it's time for him to put on his armour and use his brains.

Few men fall for romantic devotion, these days; but many an unwary single-footer has been hamstrung into the shafts of double-harness by the gentle and innocent occasional gesture of platonic friendship.

There are lots of other dangerous moments in a man's life, of course.

He is never in more danger than when he meets a timid, appealing woman who admires and flatters his strength—unless it is when he meets one who mothers him and coddles his weakness

And there are those moments when he feels lonely or defeated and sorry for himself, and needs a woman's tender consolation

And finally there is that fatal moment when he begins to wonder if the gray patches over the ears are not signs that he is getting a little over-ripe—and when he goes in for bright cravats and wears sachet debs

Oh yes, thank heaven, there are lots of dangerous moments in a man's life. Otherwise, we women should all die spinsters — Copyright, 1933, McNaught Syndicate Inc.

Business Executive Found To Be Prison Fugitive

By The Associated Press

MANSFIELD, O., Aug. 7 — 25-year-old youth was on his way back to Ohio today to resume serving a prison sentence but hoping his life since he escaped from the reformatory here six years ago would win him a pardon from Gov. George White.

Now a trusted executive of a national paint concern, Paul Maxin, formerly of Youngstown, agreed to return from Chicago without extradition. R. E. Reardon, head of the concern in which Maxin advanced rapidly from a minor position to general advertising manager, said he would "place all the resources of the company" behind the effort to win a pardon. He promised to come to Ohio to place Maxin's case before the governor.

Policeman W. Mackey of Mansfield left Chicago with Maxin last night to return him to the reformatory to resume serving time for the theft of a typewriter. Unless Governor White intervenes, Supt. T. C. Jenkins said, Maxin must serve at least a year in the reformatory before he will be eligible for a pardon.

Maxin was 19 when he was sentenced to from one to 15 years in February 1927. He escaped in December of that year. At St. Louis he studied advertising at night at Washington university.

There, under the name of J. Paul Faraday, he obtained a minor job with the paint company. He made good, was transferred to the Los Angeles office and finally brought to Chicago headquarters to become head of the advertising department.

A "tip" from his former home at Youngstown led to his apprehension. He readily admitted his identity and said he would return to Ohio voluntarily.

The annual primary question of "am I a Democrat or a Republican" is again expected to confront election officials. C. G. native materials at hand, will be constructed, halting the further washing away of land by water erosion.

To Plant Millions of Trees

Nearly 3,000,000 trees will be planted as a further check against erosion.

Flood control, too, will have been accomplished along the smaller streams by the check-dam system and added vegetation.

Scores of new picnic sites will be available in areas of great natural beauty.

Normal state appropriations for those purposes would not allow that work to be done before the next two decades and other similar problems would be springing up meanwhile, extending the task, Secrest said.

Much of the road program is in the 35,000 acre Shawnee state forest in Scioto and Adams counties, and in Ross and Lawrence counties. In addition, 175 miles of foot trails will be built in the Hocking county parks and in the Mohican forest in Ashland county. The fire observation towers, 60 to 90 foot high steel skeletons from which watchers may see 15 miles, will be in Scioto, Adams, Lawrence, Jackson and Pike counties.

Picnic areas will be added in Lucas, Henry and Defiance counties. The erosion work is centered in Tuscarawas, Coshocton, Muskingum, Guernsey, Noble, Morgan, Washington, Brown and Defiance counties.

GANGLAND METHODS HIT THRESHING WAR

Machine Blown Up as Operators Seek To Gain Control of District.

By The Associated Press

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., Aug 7 — Big town gangland's methods of intimidating those who fail to abide by its wishes has come to rural Ohio.

A demolished threshing outfit and damaged barn told the story today. Two terrific explosions of dynamite shattered the thresher and a tractor early Sunday. Sheriff Howard Duff said the "only reasonable" explanation was a fight for control of the wheat threshing business in Bethesda district.

The outfit belonged to Forrest Heskett, a farmer, who said his loss would approximate $4,000. The explosion occurred on the farm of Roy Ballard, where Heskett was to thresh wheat today. Bits of iron were thrown against the barn with such force they made a veritable sieve of a side of the building. Farmers for four miles around heard the detonations. They came by the hundreds to investigate and aid deputies in a futile search for the culprits.

ARIZONA TO DECIDE ON REPEAL TUESDAY

Drys Concede Overwhelming Victory To Anti-Dry Law Forces.

By The Associated Press

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug 7 — Arizona voters will decide tomorrow whether this state is to become the twenty-first in the union to sanction repeal of the Eighteenth amendment.

Having lost, five days before the date of election, a court battle to restrain the casting of ballots, anti-repeal forces conceded that the popular vote of the state likely would be overwhelmingly in favor of ratification.

In a contest at the polls, "dry" forces are confronted not only with a record of a two-to-one vote by which the state prohibition enforcement laws were repealed last November, but with the fact that theirs must be a write-in campaign for convention delegates.

Under an enactment of a recent special session of the eleventh Arizona legislature, 14 delegates—one from each county—were to be nominated by counties and elected by a vote of the state at large, en bloc.

No anti-repeal candidate was nominated in any county.

CARE USED IN CHECKING CARS

Lubridome Station's Attendants Well Trained in Servicing of Autos.

"I like to think that any automobile owner who leaves his car in our service station is going to get as careful attention as he would give the car himself and probably a great deal more expert work," D. L. Scott, manager of the Pure Oil station on North State street, said today.

"It has always seemed to me that a man who trusted you to do something for him has a right to expect you to do the best that could be done and that anything less than that is a reflection on you It may be that work done on our three grease racks is not the most important in the world for other people, but it is of the utmost importance to me, and consequently is entitled to the utmost attention

Stresses Thoroughness

"I have preached thoroughness in every detail This has secured results. I have patrons who drive a long way to get our service. I know they pass by other stations, and I am convinced they do this because they know at our station the work asked for will be done just as they want it. It is a great satisfaction to me to feel that every car which leaves one of our grease racks is adding to this reputation.

Chassis Studied

"We are very careful to study the charts of each manufacturer when a new car is brought out, there are several grades of grease and each car is designed to use a certain kind in each particular part. This one fact often results in a new customer coming again and again, and by the way we make a specialty of going anywhere in the city for your car, giving it the service desired and returning it. There is no extra charge"

Bibler Vault Offers Most Protection

Marion-Made Concrete Products Provides Maximum of Security.

"The greatest mark of esteem any one can show for a loved one who has passed on, is to inter the body in a substantial vault," said Walter Bibler, manager of Walter Bibler & Son Vault Co., of 441 Wilson avenue Investigation proves that the cement vault will resist the forces of nature and preserve the body permanently."

"The only trouble that has been encountered in concrete vaults is the possibility of breaking, but this is taken care of in our vaults by an unusual system of rigid steel reinforcing. The Bibler vault will stand more weight than ever would be placed on it, and it is so strong that I can not imagine any conditions which would cause it to break.

"As an additional protection against the action of underground water, these vaults are inlaid with a special paint preparation Since the vault is completely sealed in use, the body will be preserved in a dry condition forever, which is the object of a grave vault. It seems that the people who invest in a fine casket should get the best protection obtainable, and it is impossible to think of anything as permanent as concrete"

"Ask your funeral director to show you the Bibler reinforced concrete burial vault They are strictly air sealed and guaranteed waterproof. It is no longer necessary to buy an ordinary vault when ours can be secured at a reasonable price," declared Mr. Bibler.

DON'T GET IRATE

Starlings Really Do More Good Than Harm O. S. U. Man Says.

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., Aug 7—Don't get irate about those starlings.

Lawrence E. Hicks, Ohio State university ornithologist, has given that advice to a local resident who protested to police that the birds were a nuisance in his section of the city.

Starlings are really a blessing to humanity in that they eat pestiferous insects, Hicks said. He said they stay in one community only a short time, and do more good than harm.

MERRELL PROPOSES CROSSING CHANGES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O, Aug. 7 — A study of the state's grade crossings has been ordered by Highway Director O. W. Merrell, who said he hoped to improve some and eliminate the others from Ohio's highway system. Railroads will be required to obtain state approval, already required by statute, before altering tracks crossing highways. Merrell said motorists have been inconvenienced by the changing of numerous crossings.

FLASHES OF LIFE

GALESBURG, Ill.—Tom Reynolds and his family of seven have taken over as living quarters the tent in a park zoo which formerly was occupied by bears.

HAMMOND, Ind. — After seven years of work, Andrew Baber, a watchmaker, has perfected a mechanical man that is able to talk, walk, dance and shoot a pistol, with Baber's aid.

NEW YORK—That report about the stork was a trifle premature A rumor that a baby zebra had been born at the zoo brought a large crowd to the zebra corral A day or so too early.

"We expect the blessed event any night now," said keeper McBride. "Baby zebras are always born at night, when nobody is around. Twenty minutes after birth the infant is able to walk and run."

Shoup & Walsh Mechanics Electrical Specialists

When you sit on the sidelines and watch a really good boxer giving an exhibition you are impressed with two or three things that you have a right to expect in other lines, but which are developed to the limit in the seasoned boxer. One, and this valuable in any line, is that he makes no false moves. You have seen boxers in the ring wear themselves out with unnecessary work. The second thing that will impress you is the quickness with which he seizes an opening He has been so trained that his mind just about automatically sees an opportunity to get through the other fellow's guard. Here it is—no false move and the judgment to do the thing that will get results.

It is not so far a cry from the boxer to the expert in any other line. The formula works out with the mechanic as well as it does with the boxer, provided he is as well trained in his job as the boxer is in his. It is of interest to anybody having work done, for he must pay for the mechanic's time.

Now to apply this to the practical saving of the contents of your pocketbook. Whenever you need electric service on your car, for instance, the cost to you depends on the expertness of the mechanic. If it takes him a long time to locate the trouble, you may be sure this will reflect in your bill. At Shoup & Walsh at 127 East Church street, a good many years' experience have made the men expert electricians. That expertness in addition to securing you the kind of repair you may need, also means that nine times out of 10 you will be saving money by going there first, does it not?

Also, Shoup & Walsh carry in stock most of the things needed, including all common electric repairs. They are authorized service station for most of the well known electric auto accessories as well Their mechanics are also well trained in the repair and adjustment of carburetors.

QUICK SERVICE FOR AUTOISTS

Koons & Kneisley Equipped for Prompt Aid to Disabled Cars.

Have you ever had the experience while driving out in the country of having your car come to a sudden stop, and of being unable to locate the trouble? Occasionally a gear may strip and disable the timing, or a gasoline line will break, or something happen which makes the car so much dead weight. Then one will have to call somebody who may be able to tow the car to a repair station, or he may have to telephone some one to come out and tow in the car. If the latter, which is usually the case, it often means a wait of hours before the tow car puts in an appearance One scans the road anxiously the first half hour disgustedly the next, and resentfully the next.

If your telephone number set on the windshield against just such an emergency had been 2873 you would have had prompt service As a rule within five minutes after the telephone message the Koons & Kneisley relief car is on its way.

That is because Koons & Kneisley appreciate the motorist's plight. This garage repairs all makes of cars, and guarantees satisfaction with its work. The garage is located in the rear of 184 South Main street. Drive in the alley beside Shoup & Walsh.

COUNTY MANAGERS TO MEET TUESDAY

The Marion county softball league managers will meet at the Y. M. C. A. here Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. to make the drawings for the county league championship play-off. The play-off, with all members of the league participating, will start next Saturday. All managers are urged by K. M. Whiteman, league secretary, to be on hand for the meeting Tuesday.

Three Tilts Billed.

The Marion A. C. softball team will play two games this week at Central Junior High and one at the Glenwood school diamond. Caldwell's Outlaw Midgets team will be met today at 6:30 at Central and Company D Wednesday at the same place. The Midgets A. C. will furnish the opposition Friday at Glenwood.

WASHINGTON MARGIN SLASHED AS YANKS WIN AND NATS LOSE

Cleveland Drops Pair To Detroit But Redlegs Win Two.

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia Athletics, 10 games or more out of the American league pennant race, has caused some bad moments for the contending New York Yankees and Washington Senators as the leaders moved toward today's opening of another "crucial" series.

After handing the second place Yankees three straight defeats to knock them four games out of first place, the A's swung their bludgeons against Wahington yesterday and helped reduce the margin to three games. The A's slammed Ed Chapman, making his first appearance for the Senators, off the hill in less than three rounds as Jimmie Foxx helped with his thirty-first homer. Then after the Senators had taken advantage of the wildness of "Sugar" Cain and Rube Walberg to tie the score they moved ahead again on Pinky Higgins' homer in the seventh and finished with another burst for a final score of 12-8.

Yanks Beat Sox

The Yanks, meanwhile downed the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 4. The victory left the Yanks three games behind Washington and 10 ahead of the A's.

After pounding Orval Hildebrand to win the opener 7 to 3 from Cleveland the Tigers took the second game 2-1. Charley Gehringer hit a homer in each game. Chicago and St. Louis divided the other American league twin bill. The Sox won the first game 6-5 in 11 innings but the Browns evened the count with a 7-1 victory in the second.

The humble Cincinnati Reds were the day's Senators in the National league as they took a pair of brilliant extra inning pitching duels from the St. Louis Cardinals. Red Lucas went 11 innings to beat Tex Carleton 2 to 1 in the opener, then Paul Derringer, a former Cardinal, held St. Louis to three hits in 12 frames to win the second clash from Jess Haines 1-0. The double victory advanced the Birds to seventh place.

Giants Split Pair

The league leading Giants got no better than an even break with the Brooklyn Dodgers, losing the first game 6-3 then winning the second 3-2. Meanwhile the Chicago Cubs and Pat Malone handed the Pirates a 6-0 whitewashing.

IN "BIG TIME"

Ed Chapman, who made an enviable pitching record with the Rochester, N. Y., International League team, realizes the ambition of every young ball player and crashes the big league. Chapman joined the pitching staff of the Washington Senators on a swap for Bill McAfee.

WEAVER AND KALLIO TO CLASH TONIGHT

Middleweight Crown Will Be at Stake in Two-Hour Mat Battle.

The second championship match in a month is down for tonight here when Gus Kallio middleweight title holder collides with Buck Weaver sensational Terre Haute, Ind., star. Kallio and the Hoosier will clash over the two-hour time limit route with two falls to win.

Kallio defended his title here a short time ago against the Black Panther and won only after the hardest kind of a scrap. Weaver has also beaten the Black Panther so fans are looking for an even harder battle when Weaver takes on Kallio than when the champ met the Panther.

In the semi-final bout tonight Karl Von Lehman of Denver Colorado, will meet Jack Kennedy the tough Topeka, Kansas heavyweight. Both Kennedy and Von Lehman have appeared here before but not recently. Both are rough and ready grapplers and their bout should just about equal the main go for action.

The first preliminary is down for 8:30 p. m. in the outdoor arena on Uncapher avenue. In case of inclement weather the matches will be held at the Steam Shovel gym on West Center street.

FOUR CITY LEAGUES TO COMPLETE TITLE STRUGGLES THIS WEEK

One Championship Settled but One Post-Season Play-Off Looms.

The most torrid campaign in the history of softball here will roar across the finish line this week with a schedule of 30 games down for the five days starting today. With the exception of a scattering of postponed games, all four leagues will finish the games regularly scheduled in the pennant drives. It appears probably however, that at least one and perhaps two of the four leagues will be forced to play a post season game to decide the rightful owner of the league's diadem. One of the four titles, is already sewed up.

The No. 2 Sunday school league will test the right of one of its members to be champion today when the Epworth seniors and First Reformed meet at Lincoln park. Epworth appeared two weeks ago to have clear sailing to the top but ran into a reversal at the hands of St. Paul's Lutherans and must now take the second straight game from Reformed to assure itself of the crown. That most persons believe will prove a difficult task, although the Methodists will go to the post the favorite because of their superior batting attack.

Preshies vs. Irish

The First Presbyterians of the No. 1 church circuit also face a difficult hurdle Tuesday when they meet the St. Mary Irish. A victory for the Preshies will give them the title but an Irish triumph will prolong the race. The Preshies are certain of a tie for the title and have two more games in which to take the one victory necessary for clear cut supremacy.

The third straight day in which a championship hinges directly on the outcome of the schedule is down for Wednesday when the Industrial league plays a our-game group of games postponed from last week because of rain. The Serv-U-Wel Grocers will meet The Star and the Huber nine will tackle the Gasco in the headliners. A victory for both the Serv-U-Wel and Gasco would take them right down to the finish line on Thursday in a deadlock. A play-off for the crown looms more likely in this league than in any other.

Play Again Thursday

The Industrial circuit will return to action again Thursday with another four games on the books. The Erie Traffic club constitutes a real menace to the Gasco club in this final game but the Serv-U-Wel should get by Walters & Disbennett without more than average difficulty. The Indus spotlight will undoubtedly center on the games in which the Gasco and Serv-U-Wel compete, both on Wednesday and Thursday.

The Commercial league will go through the motion again Friday but the results will mean exactly nothing the Kappas having already wrapped up the title.

Mounts Start Sept. 11.

By The Associated Press

ALLIANCE, O., Aug. 7.—The football team of Mt. Union college will begin practice Sept. 11 and play its first game of the season against Marietta college, Sept. 23. Four home games and five abroad are on the schedule.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 7.—Covering 50 miles in 55 minutes 17 seconds, Bud Anderson of Akron won the feature event of four races staged by the Columbus Auto Racing association. Bill Chittum of Columbus crashed through the fence in a 10-mile race but returned to the track to win in 10:50.

LEFTY M'CLURG HURLS CALEDONIA TO 13-2 TRIUMPH OVER KIRK

Regular First Baseman Ascends Knoll and Pitches Stellar Game.

The members of the Caledonia Indians' baseball team will be glad to advise anyone interested that Lefty McClurg is a handy man to have on anybody's baseball team. McClurg, who bats and throws 'em left handed, ordinarily holds down the first base post for the Redskins. Yesterday, in the absence of Carl Huffman regular pitcher, McClurg was drafted for the twirling job. How good a job he did on the hill is best demonstrated by pointing to the score of the game which reads as follows: Caledonia 13, Kirkpatrick 2.

McClurg's left handed slants had the Kirkpatrick batters baffled from start to finish. The losers were able to collect only three hits and McClurg might have marked up a shutout victory had it not been for three fielding errors on the part of his mates.

Not content with setting the foe down with his puzzling tosses, McClurg took it on himself to do some heavy bat wielding. He made five trips to the plate, banged out two triples and a single and called it a day. Caledonia drove Rowe, the starting Kirkpatrick pitcher from the hill with a heavy batting attack and finished up on Earl Reed. The Indians collected a total of 13 hits.

Next Sunday, Caledonia will play the Galion Independents at Caledonia.

Batteries and score by innings:
Kirkpatrick ... 010 010 000— 2 3 5
Caledonia ... 141 010 31x—13 13 1
Kirkpatrick, Rowe, E. Reed and Clark Hill; Caledonia, McClurg and Watt.

DULL OPENING ON BIG BOARD

Trading Activity at Lowest Ebb Since 1933 Upswing Started.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The reaction ruled in the security markets today as both bulls and bears apparently observed a truce while each party attempted to estimate the strength of each other's ammunition.

Trading activity in stocks was at the lowest ebb since the 1933 upswing got under way. The ticker tape stood still for minutes at a time and most boards were almost deserted except by a few sleepy eyed and indifferent customers. Grains in the restricted Chicago market were narrow and listless. Cotton was a bit easier and other commodities mixed. Bonds were irregularly lower. The dollar continued to advance in terms of leading foreign exchanges.

Stocks generally mulled about in a fractional range. Among the steadier issues were American Telephone, Case, Celanese, United Aircraft, Chesapeake & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson and Chrysler. Consolidated Gas ex-dividend was off 2 points while shares down fractionally to around a point included Montgomery Ward, General Electric, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio, National Biscuit, American Can, Santa Fe, Western Union and Auburn.

While security prices generally were inclined to move uncertainly at times, financial observers pointed out that the technical condition of the market had been highly improved during the last week or so and that much of the recent overhanging liquidations has been eliminated without many unusually severe casualties.

The cooling down of the inflation fever is viewed as encouraging by most banking circles although it still is a market factor.

Two of the important events this week will be publication of the government's cotton report tomorrow and the unfilled tonnage figures of the U. S. Steel Corp. Friday. It is expected that the cotton report may estimate the number of acres retired under the crop reduction scheme. There are many guesses on the steel backlog. A moderate loss is seen by some observers, while other feel there may be a pleasant surprise in a small gain.

Increase in Total Visible Supply Fails To Shake Market at Chicago.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 7.—Despite announcement of 3,057,000 bushels increase of the United States wheat visible supply total, wheat prices displayed steadiness in the late dealings today at a little under Saturday's finish.

There was no pronounced buying or selling, and speculative interest was restricted owing more or less to holidays at Winnipeg and Liverpool. Many operators appeared uncertain as to the immediate trend of the markets, and were disposed to go slow on either side pending fresh developments, especially as Washington

Wheat closed easy ½@⅝ under Saturday's finish, corn ⅛@1 cent off, oats ⅛@⅜ down, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 15 cents.

WAGGING DOG'S TAIL CAUSES BOY'S DEATH

By International News Service

WARREN O., Aug. 7.—A wagging dog's tail, usually the symbol of joy, brought death to Michael Zee, 14-year-old farm boy.

Michael recently was playing about the house with his pet.

The animal's swishing tail struck the trigger of a loaded shotgun which was standing in the corner.

The charge struck the youth squarely in the heart, killing him instantly.

Pet-lovers here said this was one of the few cases that had come to their attention of a dog being responsible for his master's death.

U. S. WORKS ON BUCYRUS CASE

Congresman Truax Voices Belief City Will Win Railway Shop Fight.

Special To The Star

BUCYRUS, Aug. 7—Federal investigation of the city's case against the New York Central railroad in opposition to removal of the local shops to Collingwood is under way and at least one official interested in the case is confident of ultimate success for the city.

Congressman Charles V. Truax, returning from Washington for a brief visit at his home here, expressed confidence in the city's position following a series of conferences held with Joseph B. Eastman, railroad coordinator to whom the case was carried recently by a group of Bucyrus city officials.

Eastman will work on the case, Truax has reported, from the angle that the removal would violate two major efforts of the administration —that of preventing migration into cities and that of tearing down one community to build up another. The coordinator has been told that the railroad is now sending trains from the mines to Toledo over the western division of the railroad instead of through Bucyrus.

This, Eastman told Truax, will be investigated. Eastman said he would demand of the railroad to show where it will save $200,000 as asserted by removal of the shops, it being the contention that the reputed saving would be offset by the additional expense of using the other division, by vacation of valuable property here — property which would revert to the city— and by reimbursement to employes of all lost by them through the removal, in accordance with the transportation act of the administration.

In support of Eastman's promise to investigate, F. P. Pfhaler of Washington was in the city Friday viewing the local shops and conferring with Mayor Arthur Schuler.

FAMILY'S TRAVELS HALTED BY JUDGE

Court Acts as Three Counties Try To Shift Responsibility.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, O., Aug. 7—Judge F. LeRoy Allen has granted a temporary injunction to the Madison county board of commissioners, preventing the Union county commissioners, Milton Southard, superintendent of the Union County Home, and Sheriff William Rausch, from returning to the Madison county home, the family of Nicholas Broderick, consisting of himself, wife and four children, until their legal residence can be established. About a month ago the Broderick family was brought to the Union county home from Logan county, the authorities there claiming they belonged in Union county. The authorities of this county claimed they had no legal residence here and took them to the Madison county home on Thursday. The family was brought back here Saturday, and the commissioners in the latter county filed injunction proceedings here preventing the family from being returned there. Judge Allen will hear the case on its merits in about two weeks.

Galion Business Man in New Role As Airplane Pilot

Special to The Star

GALION Aug. 7—The airplane show in Galion Sunday revealed that a Galion citizen G. A. Berting, has gone in for aviation as a business convenience and pleasure by purchasing a Monocoupe plane.

Mr. Berting displayed his plane Sunday on the new air fields here, during the airplane show. He made his purchase at Minneapolis, Minn., nearly two months ago.

Mr. Berting, who is assistant sales manager for the North Electric Manufacturing Co. here, travels thousands of miles in his work. He believes that the plane will take him on his business trips in much less time than an automobile, equally safe, and at less cost.

The convenience of the plane in his work, of course, is a good reason for making such a purchase; but perhaps the biggest reason for Mr. Berting's purchase is because he loves to fly.

He is completing a pilot's course under instructions from Russell Gledhill, local pilot, and soon expects to take his plane on a solo flight.

Galion Residents Treated To Air Show At New Port

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 7 — Galion was treated to its first air show Sunday, held in connection with the opening of a field which is rapidly being improved for an airport. Five airplanes were in the opening parade across the sky.

Parachute jumps were made by Paul Sens of Marion and "Cannon-Ball" Mast of Mansfield from a Waco plane. A delayed jump made by Mast of more than a mile in the air closed the show. Sens suffered a broken leg in his jump.

A Challenger Robin plane piloted by Harold Cobb of Marion, a Curtiss Robin plane piloted by Ralph Walcutt of Toledo, a Commander airplane piloted by Dr. E. D. McCallister of Delaware and a small Monocoupe plane owned by G. A. Berting of Galion gave demonstrations of balloon bursting, trick and novelty flying, dead stick landing, dog fighting, bomb dropping and stunting.

Port Galion came into being recently when W. I. Tuttle of here purchased a part of the old car barns on the Galion-Bucyrus road and began the improvement of the buildings for hangars. It is understood that when completed, the hangars will house eight planes. The field adjoining the old barns has been leased by Mr. Tuttle and is undergoing grading and other improvements.

Yesterday's show was sponsored by Russell Gledhill, a Galion pilot who flys Dr. McCallister's Waco plane. The American Legion drum corps furnished music.
